WORK SITE LOCATION

The position will be based out of the head office in Batchewana First Nation.

PHYSICAL DEMANDS AND WORK ENVIRONMENT

While performing the duties of this job, the Elder In Residence will typically be in an office setting. The Elder-In-Residence is frequently required to operate a computer, file and retrieve written documents, and work overtime when required or during emergency situations. The physical demands include, but are not limited to, standing, sitting, walking, lifting, carrying, reaching, handling, kneeling, crouching and bending. The Elder In Residence will be required to travel to meetings in the province of Ontario.

The administration of employees and child welfare issues can be mentally and emotionally challenging. As a result, this position is more mentally challenging than physically challenging. There will be extended periods of sitting required when performing administrative tasks and while attending meetings.

Non-physical demands include a work environment where the noise level is usually quiet to moderate, but may be loud on occasion. The nature of the position may expose the Elder In Residence to high levels of tension when dealing with issues. The level of tension is usually moderate, with high levels of tension occurring occasionally.
