The Catholic Children's Aid Society of Toronto (CCAS) is seeking a Clinical Psychologist to enhance our capacity to provide psychological services to a range of clinical programs that serve children and youth. As part of a multi-disciplinary team, the successful candidate will coordinate the provision of psychological assessments, translate results into treatment recommendations, provide case consultation to clinical and service teams, and support professional development of clinical and service staff. The children and youth served at CCAS are typically experiencing emotional, behavioral and/or psychological difficulties, and have varied and complex presentations that may include trauma, multiple placements, family conflict, and/or challenges in school and in the community. The successful candidate will have the ability to provide service to children of all ages and their families.

The Catholic Children's Aid Society of Toronto is committed to clinical excellence and working collaboratively with families to enhance the growth and development of children and youth. Staff benefit from a strong clinical multi-disciplinary team, regular supervision and a cohesive and supportive environment, which encourages creativity, ongoing learning, innovation, and best practices to enhance our abilities to help our vulnerable clients. The Catholic Children's Aid Society actively promotes and develops clinical learning opportunities for staff.

The Catholic Children's Aid Society is committed to having a workforce that is reflective of the diversity of the City of Toronto and strongly encourages application from all qualified individuals. We actively encourage applicants from all equity seeking groups especially those with lived experience from racialized and or marginalized communities. Our goal is to attract, develop, and retain highly talented employees from diverse backgrounds allowing us to benefit from a wide variety of experiences and perspectives.

Duties Include:

- To recruit, select and maintain a roster of external psychologists with knowledge and skills appropriate to the needs of the Society, to provide psychological assessments for children and youth in the Society's care;
- To review internal referrals for psychological assessments to determine nature, suitability and appropriate consultant for each request, and assign requests;

- To monitor service to completion and to ensure adherence to professional standards;
- To review referrals for other related assessments for children and young people in care;
- To ensure the provision of adequate follow-up services including interpretation of psychological reports;
- To provide professional expertise and to act as a resource to the Society and its staff in the area of psychology including attending case conferences to discuss assessment results, treatment needs and placement planning for children and youth;
- To provide consultation to specific programs within the Society;
- To participate in internal training sessions and workshops to provide information to Society staff on the use of psychological services and professional training on related clinical issues;
- To contribute to the formulation of Society policies and procedures and the development of service planning to ensure adequate services within budgetary requirements and/or restraints;
- Other duties as assigned.
